

Level III

Vocabulary List

¿Cuál es la fecha?- What is the date?

el (number) de (month) - the date in Spanish example: el quince de enero- January 15th mi- my tu- your

su- his or her

amigos- friends

cumpleaños- birthday

invitaciones- invitations

almuerzo- lunch

leche- milk

banana- banana

familia- family

fiesta- party

tiempo libre- free time

bocadillo- sandwich

manzana- apple

naranja- orange

How are we doing? Visit our website to let us know!

www.futuraadventures.com

(Contact Us / Tell Us How We Are Doing).

Cantamos- Let's Sing

Here is a new to sing at home with your children.

Spanish Birthday Song

(to the tune of "Happy Birthday")

Feliz cumpleaños a ti,

Feliz cumpleaños a ti,

Feliz cumpleaños a (name) ,

Feliz cumpleaños a ti.

Notas Culturales / Class Activities

Today we discussed the differences with lunch in Latin American countries. In many Latin American countries, students come home during the day to have lunch. Their entire families meet and it is the biggest and most important meal of the day. Because of this, their lunches are sometimes two hours and their days are much longer. We also talked about Mexican food and other types of Latin American cuisine.

Information

Please contact the Futura Language Professionals Coordinator, SandyO@FuturaAdventures.com with any questions about Spanish class.