

Activites Explanation-

La Casa de Tus Sueños—Have the students imagine their dream houses and then draw them on large pieces of paper. After they complete these, you can have each student do an oral "show and tell" of their house. For example, "Esta es la sala. Hay una alfombra azul y una television grande." (Make sure you set a time limit for the drawing. Keep these for the last class!)

Se Vende-Teach your students this phrase and then have them play realtors! Using the enclosed work sheet as a model, have each student or group of students create their own house advertisement.

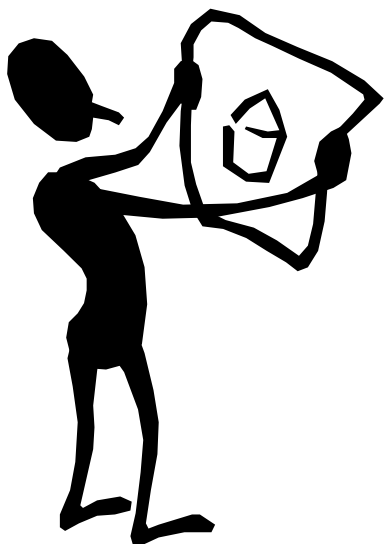

La mosca está en el sofá-Use the enclosed worksheet and copy it so that there is one for every other student. Put the paper between two students - these students are opponents. Call out an English word. The first student to touch the word in Spanish wins a point. Play to five points. Change partners and play again!

En la cocina hay... Teach the directional adjectives (a la izquierda de, a la derecha de....) to your students. Make two copies of the attached kitchen pictures. Divide your class into two teams. Have them cut out the pictures and glue them onto another piece of paper to create an imaginary kitchen. Then have each team write down as many sentences as they can about the kitchen. They can use the directional words and even talk about the people in the kitchen. You can also allow them to add color if they wish. Give them an allotted time and at the end of the time take the two teams answers and write them on the board. Whichever team has the most correct sentences, wins!

Hint: Label anything in your classroom that correlates to these vocabulary words. Ie: carpet, door, window, desk, etc. Keep the labels for the entire semester. Each day start off by pointing to each object and then discussing it, Example: "Es grande, es verde, hay dos."
