¿Guapo, bonito o feo?

It can sometimes be confusing for an English speaker to understand which adjective to choose. For a girl it is common to say Ella es bonita. For a boy it is more common to say Él es guapo. To describe an object like a couch, it is more common to use bonito/feo.

El sofa es bonito.

El sofa es feo.

(*sofa is an exception in that it ends in 'a', but is a masculine noun)

Notas Culturales / Class Activities

Houses (casas) in Latin America often have simple exteriors with walls and a door facing the street, but the insides can be magnificent. Many times, there are lush, beautiful courtyards inside homes and buildings. *Tonight: Look on the computer and find a home in a Spanish speaking country with a courtyard and print a picture to share with the next class!
