

Level VI

Vocabulary List

caros, caras- expensive
baratos, baratas- inexpensive viejos, viejas- old nuevos, nuevas- new populares- popular

la sandía- the watermelon
el melón- the melón
la lechuga- the lettuce
el tomate- the tomato la ensalada- the salad
el queso- the cheese
el sándwich- the sandwich
el pan- the bread

Today we continued to use the verb ser is with describing people and things, as well as telling time. We discussed at what time we typically eat breakfast, lunch & dinner here in the United States, versus when they eat these same meals in different Spanish speaking countries around the world - you may be surprised by the differences!

Más Información

Continue reviewing the verb ser and draw a line to match the following conjugations of ser with the correct subject.

Answers to last week's newsletter:

- |             |          |
|-------------|----------|
| 1. yo       | A. somos |
| 2. tú       |          |
| 3. él       | B. sois  |
| ella        |          |
| Ud.         | C. soy   |
| 4. nosotros |          |
| nosotras    | D. eres  |
| 5. vosotros |          |
| vosotras    | E. son   |
| 6. ellos    |          |
| ellas       | F. es    |
| Uds.        |          |

Notas Culturales

There is something infamous in Mexico called "tiempo Mexicano." Mexicans tend to view time very differently from us. For example: If you are invited to a Mexican party at 7:00 and you arrive exactly at seven you will most likely be the first one there and the host may not even be ready. It is not atypical to be one, two or three hours late. This can be a frustrating thing for a United States American who is accustomed to being on time. However, there are benefits, because you can truly enjoy what you are doing without checking your mental clock. Ask your student how they feel about the concept of tiempo Mexicano. Business transactions are different, as punctuality is expected.

Information

Please contact the Futura Language Professionals Coordinator, SandyO@FuturaAdventures.com with any questions about Spanish class.