

Week 6 Spanish Newsletter

¡Vamos a comer!

Vocabulary List

la ensalada- the salad la sopa- the soup el pastel- the cake el tomate- the tomato sin- without pásame __ por favor- pass me __ please me gusta- I like no me gusta- I don't like

Practice at Home

The next time you are at a restaurant, see how many items from the menu you know in Spanish. Also, see if you would know how to order or talk to people at your table in Spanish. You can try this at home by asking your family members to "Pásame_por favor" when you want different foods at the table.

Notas Culturales

Today we talked about different foods that people eat in Mexico, where Dani and Beto are from. Some typical foods to them are: tamales (which can be sweet or spicy), enchiladas, quesadillas, tacos, and burritos. Mole makes a fun discussion as it has chocolate and peanuts in it. We also learned they eat huevos con hormigas (eggs with ants) and chapulines (grasshoppers*shown below) in some parts of Mexico.

Information Please contact the Futura Language Professionals Coordinator, SandyO@FuturaAdventures.com with any questions about Spanish

Futura Language Professionals www.FuturaAdventures.com

Cantamos- Let's Sing

Today we learned about food in a restaurant and ordering in Spanish!

We used our imaginations and made restaurant skits in Spanish.

Here is a great song to practice food words – you can substitute other door items for the italized words

Por Favor, Pásame (Please, pass me _)

(Sung to the tune of "Row, Row, Row Your Boat") Por, por, por favor Verduras, por favor Pásame, pásame, pásame, pásame Verduras, por favor Por, por, por favor Ensalada, por favor Pásame, pásame, pásame Ensalada, por favor