

¡Vamos a Acampar!

Vocabulary List

el malvavisco- marshmallow
el perro caliente- hot dog
el sándwich- sandwich
las papas fritas- potato chips
la limonada- lemonade
el agua- water
Tengo hambre- I am hungry
Tengo sed- I am thirsty
amarillo- yellow

Today we went on an adventure with Dani and Beto and learned about food (comida) at the campsite (acampamento).

Information

Please contact the Futura Language Professionals Coordinator, SandyO@FuturaAdventures.com with any questions about Spanish

Conversation Practice

¿Cómo estás?- How are you?
Bien, más o menos, mal- good, okay, bad

Notas Culturales

If camping for fun, families in Mexico roast marshmallows on a stick. They may also cook sausages or carne asada over the campfire. Carne asada is a traditional type of grilled meat, a steak. Puerto Rico is a great place to camp because the weather is a good mild temperature year- round. When traveling the island, food can be found along the roadside at kioskos (kiosks). They often have pinchos (kebobs) and deep-fried foods such as alcapurrias (made with yucca and plantains and filled with meat) and empanadas (stuffed dough that can be filled with meat, cheese, or veggies). Do these foods sound yummy to you?!

¡Cantamos!

El baile de la fogata The campfire dance!
(Sing to the tune and gestures of the “Hokey Pokey”)

Put el malvavisco in, take el malvavisco out, put el malvavisco in and shake it all about.
Do el baile de la fogata and turn yourself around. That’s what it’s all about! Yum yum!
Put el perro caliente in, take el perro caliente out, put el perro caliente in and shake it all about. Do el baile de la fogata and turn yourself around. That’s what it’s all about!
Yum yum!