

Culture Resource Page: Día de los muertos

Día de los muertos	Day of the Dead	las calaveras	skeletons
las velas	candles	el pan de muerto	bread of the dead
azúcar	sugar	la ofrenda/el altar	offering/altar
las flores	flowers	los dulces	candy
la familia	family	la reunión	gathering
el papel picado	cut-out tissue paper	las fotografías	photos/pictures
el cempasúchil	marigold	la celebración	celebration

El día de los muertos~ The Day of the Dead

Day of the Dead is celebrated November 1st and 2nd where the living welcomes their beloved departed once a year. This is a happy ritual that families celebrate together. Altars are decorated with food, drinks, flowers, candles, and more. This beautiful holiday is celebrated in Mexico as well as other Spanish speaking countries.

