

El restaurante – un diálogo

Create a dialogue in a restaurant between a customer and a waiter. Your dialogue should include at least the information from the Basic column. Brief stage directions (such as “waiter shows customer to table”) may be written in parentheses in English.

Basic	More Advanced
A simple greeting between the customer and waiter	Waiter welcomes customer to the restaurant Waiter asks how many people
Waiter asks customer what s/he would like to eat and drink	Waiter tells what foods are really good at the restaurant Customer mentions a food need (allergy, vegetarian) Customer tells what foods s/he likes or does not like Waiter mentions that the cook prepares or cooks the food very well
Waiter tells the customer to enjoy the food. Customer says thank you.	After customer tastes the food, s/he describes their reaction to the food. Waiter responds to that reaction Waiter asks if customer would like something else (dessert, etc.)
The customer asks for the bill	Customer is surprised by bill total (either very cheap or very expensive)
Customer and waiter say goodbye	Customer tells waiter s/he will return with friends or will never return
